

400 Visa for Highly Specialised Work

The Subclass 400 Short Stay Specialist Visa program enables businesses to engage skilled overseas workers for 3 to 6 months. It is recommended for bringing highly skilled overseas specialists to Australia for non-ongoing work, such as emergency relief or temporary work requiring expertise not available locally.

Interstaff partner with your business to ensure the applicant's visa is arranged efficiently. Below are the current Subclass 400 Visa timelines for businesses.

Indicative Timeline

Subclass 400 Visa Quick Reference

Applicants must be outside of Australia to apply for a Subclass 400 visa.

'Non-ongoing' work means:

- the highly skilled work is likely to be completed within a six month period; and
- the applicant has not made arrangements to stay in Australia for a work related purpose after that period.

Work cannot have adverse consequences for employment or training of Australians.

Family members can be included.

Biometric and health assessments may be required.

Period of stay is calculated from the date of first entry into Australia.

Better Migration Starts With Interstaff

Established in 1988, Interstaff has over three decades of experience in managing business migration requirements. Contact our Registered Migration Agents to discuss your needs.